Game Capsule Summary

The Orioles' pitchers Joe Cox and Patrick Moore combined their pitching and hitting efforts against the Oregon Colts on Sunday at Purdy Park to earn a Home Talent Sunday league victory for Orfordville (now 5-7).

Cox started on the mound for the Orioles and pitched through six complete innings, scattering six hits, striking out six, walking four, and yielding two earned runs. Moore came on in the 7th in relief and closed the game out yielding only 2 hits and striking out two.

At the plate, Moore went 3 for 3 with two doubles. Cox provided two safeties and an rbi.

Oregon got on the board right away, scoring off Cox in the first frame with a combination of three singles and a walk. Eric Engler drove in the first run for the Colts with a single to left.

Orfordville responded with 4 runs in their 1st highlighted by an rbi single by Nate Henke and a 2 rbi single by B.J. Cook.

Oregon scored again in their 4th with a lead-off walk by Engler followed by an rbi double by Mike Wendt. Then after wild pitching Wendt over to third base, Cox settled in and struck out the next 3 Colts hitters.

Orfordville added two more runs in their 6th when Moore doubled to lead off the inning and was driven in by Seth Hendricks with an rbi single. Hendricks advanced to 2nd base on a wild pitch and then scored on an rbi single by Cox.

Moore held the Colts scoreless through the final three innings and the Orioles added an insurance run in their 8th when Moore doubled again to lead off the inning and scored on a misplaced single to left by Cox.
